

Danielle Veira

Founder and CEO, Minerva's Legacy Coaching & Consulting

Danielle launched Minerva's Legacy to merge her passions for strategic communications and leadership coaching. Before becoming her own boss, Danielle spent nearly 20 years working in nonprofit, advocacy, and philanthropic communications, both in-house and as a consultant in Washington, DC and Chicago.

Through Minerva's Legacy, Danielle has hosted several workshops and retreats with leaders at every level in their careers. As a certified professional coach, Danielle also offers one-on-one coaching engagements where she works with clients to discover their core values, life purpose, talents, and strengths.

In addition to leadership coaching, Danielle provides strategic communications support to Minerva's Legacy consulting clients. She connects vision with strategy to amplify her clients' messages and has secured placements in a variety of media outlets, including CNN, PBS, The Washington Post, POLITICO, Chicago Sun Times, Axios, Bloomberg and network television affiliates nationwide.

Danielle received her bachelor's degree in sociology from Emory University.

LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/danielleveira/>

Website: <https://minervaslegacy.com/>

Coaching Credentials:

- Certified Professional Co-Active Coach (CACC)
- Several years' experience in Enneagram and CliftonStrengths assessments
- Facilitates leadership workshops, team-building retreats, and personal rest/renewal and manifestation retreats

Areas of Expertise:

- Career Exploration
- Core Value Identification
- Effective Networking
- Executive Strategy and Alignment
- Leadership Effectiveness
- Team Building & Optimization
- Work/Life Balance